The bisexual community in San Francisco got a jolt of energy on Saturday, March 9th, when we were treated to an all-out gala at the new [Charles M. Holmes Campus of the] San Francisco LGBT Community Center. This fete, entitled "Bi and For the People" was organized by one of San Francisco's most visible bi couples, the inimitable Drs. Carol Queen and Robert Lawrence Morgan. The good doctors gathered several of their finest performer-friends for the evening's entertainment, which took place on two whole floors of the Center.

The turnout was better than expected, with over 1500 bisexuals and our allies and admirers in attendance. Performers included: Annie Sprinkle, who did two fabulous shows during the evening; Circo Zero, providing the evening's circus-style gymnastic entertainment to the sound of live vocals and wild applause; Ouchy the Clown, with his Porn Clown Posse; and live djs on the 3rd floor, where much dancing was taking place. There were people from local organizations and businesses from Good Vibrations to Curve Magazine to the Center's Board of Directors, manning tables in the lobby and 4th level to provide info and free goodies (hand mirrors, magazines, Hershey's Kisses, and more). The Sisters of Perpetual Indulgence also graced us with their presence, and Mark Leno was spotted in the crowd...
