

“Amy Andre fills a much-needed niche.”
-- Morgan Theis, Stanford University

Amy Andre

Do you know why bisexuals, especially bi women, have worse health than lesbians and gays? Amy Andre does – and she knows what we can do about this in particular and LGBT health disparities in general, to achieve optimal health for all. A leading expert on bisexual identity and

LGBT health, a widely-published author, and a Sexuality Studies lecturer, Amy has more than ten years of experience educating college students about human sexuality.

*The co-author of Bisexual Health, Amy earned her master's in Sexuality Studies at San Francisco State University, and, as a Point Foundation Scholar, she received her second master's degree, from the University of California, Berkeley.*

Recent Lectures at:

- Brown University
- Stanford Med School
- Rutgers University

Areas of Expertise:

- Why bisexuals have worse health than lesbians and gays – and what we can do about all LGBT health disparities
- LB women's sexuality
- The future of sex

Accomplishments:

- Grad degrees from UC Berkeley and SFSU
- *Co-author, *Bisexual Health: An Introduction
- Point Scholar
- Teaches thousands of students across the US

Contact:

amy@amyandre.com

In-Demand Lecturer

Amy has taught thousands of students at over 100 universities, conferences, and organizations, deepening their understanding of bisexuality, LGBT health, and the future of human sexuality.

Her impressive speaking roster includes Brown University, Stanford University Medical School, Rutgers University, the University of Massachusetts, and UCLA.

Noted Author

In addition to co-writing Bisexual Health: An Introduction and Model Practices for HIV/ STI Prevention, a book published by the National Gay & Lesbian Task Force, Amy has essays in books including Getting Bi: Voices of Bisexuals Around the World, Nobody Passes: Rejecting the Rules of Gender and Conformity, and Waking Up American: Coming of Age Bi-culturally.

Her numerous articles appear in such publications as Bridges: A Jewish Feminist Journal, American Sexuality, ColorLines, and Curve, and on websites such as JVoices.com and Alternet.org.

Bisexuality and LGBT Studies Expert

Highly regarded for her research, writing, and teaching, Amy has broadened the scope of national dialogue on topics such as bisexual identity and health disparities faced by LGBT people, through interviews with the Washington Blade, KPFK Pacifica Radio LA, and the Advocate, among many other news sources.

Amy is now booking her engagements for this school year. To bring her to your school, email amy@amyandre.com.